POETRY.

OLD DANIEL GRAY.

BY J. G. HOLLAND.

If I shall ever win the home in heaven
For whose sweet rest I humbly hope and pray,
In the great company of the forgiven,
I shall be sure to find old Daniel Gray.

I knew him well; in fact, few knew him better;
For my young eyes oft read for him the Word,
And saw how meekly from the crystal letter
He drank the life of his beloved Lord.

Old Daniel Gray was not a man who lifted
On ready words his freight of gratitude,
And was not called upon among the gifted,
In the prayer-meetings of his neighborhood.

He had a few old-fashioned words and phrases,
Linked in with sacred texts and sundry rhymes;
And, I suppose, that, in his prayers and graces,
I've heard them at least a thousand times.

I see him now—his form and face, and motions,
His homespun habit, and his silver hair—
And hear the language of his trite devotions
Rising behind the straight-backed kitchen chair.

I can remember how the sentence sounded—
"Help us, O Lord, to pray and not to faint!"
And how the "conquering and to-conquer" sounded
The loftier aspirations of the saint.

He had some notions that did not improve him,
He never kissed his children—so they say;
And finest scenes and fairest flowers would move him
Less than a horseshoe picked up in the way.

He had a hearty hatred of oppression,
And righteous words for sin of every kind;
Alas, that the transgressor and transgression
Were linked so closely in his honest mind!

He could see nought but vanity in beauty,
And nought but weakness in a fond caress,
And pitied men whose views of Christian duty
Allowed indulgence in such foolishness

Yet there were love and tenderness within him;
And I am told, that, when his Charley died,
Nor nature's need nor gentle words could win him
From his fond vigils at the sleeper's side.

And when they came to bury little Charley,
They found fresh dew-drops sprinkled in his hair,
And on his breast a rose-bud gathered early,
And guessed, but did not know who placed it there.

Honest and faithful, constant in his calling,
Strictly attendant on the means of grace,
Instant in prayer, and fearful most of falling,
Old Daniel Gray was always in his place.

A practical old man, and yet a dreamer
He thought that in some strange, unlooked for way,
His mighty Friend in Heaven, the great Redeemer,
Would honor him with wealth some golden day.

This dream he carried in a hopeful spirit
Until in death his patient eye grew dim,
And his Redeemer called him to inherit,
The heaven of wealth long garnered up for him.

So, if I ever win the home in heaven,
For whose sweet rest I humbly hope and pray,
In the great company of the forgiven
I shall be sure to find old Daniel Gray.

Is the Society of Free-Masons a Secret Society?

One of the charges that are brought against Masonry is, that it is a secret society, and as such is of dangerous tendency, and, from the secresy of its proceedings, may be used as an instrument of great power against the right administration of government, or to subvert religion.

The fallacy of this charge we propose briefly to show. In the first place, we claim that it is not a secret society. Its hours of meeting are regularly advertised in the papers, and its place of meeting so well known by the public that the best advertisement of a man's place of business is to give its direction and nearness to the Masonic Hall.

Neither is its membership secret. The men of which its body is composed are well known to the public, and they are known to be "Masons," for nearly every one wears some emblem of the Order upon his person, so that it can be readily seen.

Nor are these emblems a secret. Even the children recognize the "Compass and Square" of a Master Mason, or the "Key Stone" of the Chapter, or the "Cross" of the Commandery.

Neither are its objects secret. It is openly proclaimed, and well known to be true, that it has for its object the mutual benefit of its membership, by furnishing a means of mutual improvement and instruction, nor is this instruction and improvement confined to business forms merely. It is a means of mutual aid in sickness or distress, and no more to be condemned on that account than are "insurance companies."

Nor are its principles secret. Its "Monitors," its "Lexicons," its systems of "Jurisprudence," and even its "Mysteries," are printed and published to the world and may be purchased by any one at all the large book stores. What, then, is there secret about it? We answer, "It is only its methods of recognition," by which we guard against imposition. And the folly of the idea that it can be made a means of subverting the government will readily be seen, when we remember that its membership is composed of all classes of political faith. This difference of political views in its membership affords an effectual guard against its being made use of to carry forward political schemes of any kind. And the same argument has application against the charge of subversion of religion, for the membership of the different churches and religious societies are all of them represented in the "Roll of the Craft."

From these points, briefly presented, we claim that the charge that it is a "secret society," is no more just that it would be if we should charge any family in the community with being a secret family, for what family is there that has not its secrets? Nor would we presume to intrude without knocking at the door for admittance.—Voice of Freemasonry.

Masonry.

"Was Uncle Paul a Mason?" Ike asked of Mrs. Partington, as he stood looking at the rigid profile of the ancient corporal of the "Bloody Eleventh" that hung on the wall.

"No, he was a veteran sargent, naturally, though he took in gardening afterward, and raised the most wonderful squashes that always took the primer at the Horticultural Fair."

"I mean was he a Freemason?" continued Ike.

"Oh, dear, no," replied she, "and I am glad of it, for they are a great deal too free in throwing their plasterin' round, which is very mortarfying, and takes the color out of things so, and when they whitewashed the kitchen, didn't they make free with the balmy bud rum which they mistook for a cordial? and I wish to gracious it had been a 'metic to have taught 'em a lesson to be a little less free next time."

"But Freemason," said Ike, petulantly, "ain't Masons; I mean the fellows that built the temple."

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "them? Well, dear, I have heered of a good many things they did, and then again I have heard of a good many things they didn't, and so between 'em both I don't believe neither. It's a great mystery!" she whispered, "and, if they did kill Morgan, they ought to have done it if they agreed to, tho' 'twas a bad thing for him. But I never believed the story of his sculling up Nigary Falls in a pota h kettle with a crobar, which is preposterous, and as for the gridiron—thereby hangs a tale, and the Lord knows what they do in their secret cemeteries, when they get on one another's clothes by mistake, and cut up all sorts of capers, to say nothing of the ridiculous aprons which do make 'em look so queer."

The interest of Ike had ceased, and he had turned his attention to anointing the cat with an application of soft soap.

Terrific Tornado.

One of the most appaling storms of wind, hail and rain ever known in this country visited the flourishing village of Shanghai, in the northern corner of Warren county, on Sunday evening last, by which many homes have been totally destroyed and many others made desolate, and carrying with it death and despair. Nothing of the kind has been known in the country since the destruction of Ellison, in this State, and Comanche, in Iowa; and it is even doubted whether these storms were equal in grandeur and power to this.

APPROACH OF THE TORNADO—ITS APPEARANCE.

The first that was observed by the people who were watching the clouds was what looked to them to be a circular cloud or volume of wind and rain about two and a half miles due west of the village of Shanghai, which seemed to rise and sink in the air. In the language of Mr. Leveridge, a gentleman whom I conversed with: "It seemed to let itself down to the ground." It was an immense whirlwind in the shape of a cone, about a quarter of a mile in diameter at least. Its power was first displayed in a pond near Mr. John Doggett's house, two miles and a half west of town. It literally sucked large quantities of water out of the pond and up into the air, almost making the pond entirely dry.

BEGINNING OF DEVASTATION.

It came on, gathering new strength, straight east, levelling to to the ground fences, gates and everything that came in its way to Mr. John Calders' farm, where several window lights were knocked out and a large cherry tree, eight inches through at the butt, was twisted round and torn up by the roots. A remarkable incident at Calders' farm was that a tub full of water standing in the yard, which was not moved in its position, had every drop of water carried up in the air. It struck the north-east part of the village with terrific force leveling everything before it.

There were fifteen dwelling houses totally destroyed. Many of them were picked up by the whirlwind, lifted into the air and carried quite a distance and then, seemingly with demoniac fury, dashed to the ground and shivered into a million of fragments.

A SCHOOL-HOUSE DASHED TO PIECES.

A school house, twenty-four feet by thirty-six, was lifted off from its foundation and dashed in pieces. This school house was built only a short time ago at a considerable expense, and were not the other losses so much greater, this would be keenly felt.

TWO CHURCHES DESTROYED.

It will seem incredible that two good sized, well-built churches, the only ones in the place, both new, one completed a year ago and the other less than six months ago, were both scattered in fragments over the prairie for nearly half a mile.

AN AWFUL SCENE.

Services commenced in the Second Advent Church at four o'clock P. M. The pastor of the church, Rev. G. W. Hurd, ascended the sacred pulpit and commenced his discourse, which was not interrupted until it was nearly through, when the evidences of the coming disaster began to be apparent. First it was perfectly still, and then a noise was heard in the distance as of the roaring of a mighty cataract. The windows began to shake, and some one called out from his seat, "Mr. Hurd, a bad storm is coming up." The minister answered, "Never mind the storm; there is a day coming when there will be a storm compared with which this will be nothing. It will be through soon." Just then the hail and wind commenced breaking in the window lights, and in almost an instant the windows of the church, sash and all, were torn out.

The only two persons who succeeded in getting out were George Wern and Harrison Wixon, who were instantly killed. The building reeled like a drunken man, but none could get out. Wives clung to their husbands, children to their parents, brothers and sisters to each other, and despair was depicted upon every countenance. Suddenly the crash came and with a deafening sound mingled with the shrieks of the pent up people, timbers, scantling and all came down with a sudden crash upon the devoted heads of the congregation, men, women and children. Some had skulls broken, others arms, others received internal injuries from which they can never recover. There are several who did not receive a scratch, but nearly all were more or less injured.

A PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE.

Services were to have been held at the same hour in the Methodist Church, but owing to the non-arrival of the minister the services were postponed. This church was also entirely demolished.—Chicago Republican.

A Democratic Dilemma.

Under the Reconstruction laws of Congress, Arkansas, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Louisiana, are about restored and in due time will be complete in their relations to the Union. Does the Democratic party intend to recognize the validity of the government of these States? Will it put up electoral tickets in them? Will its members of Congress vote against admitting their Senators and Representatives? The time has come when the Democratic leaders will be compelled to face the music on the Reconstruction question. If at last they are compelled to accept reconstruction under the laws of Congress as a fixed fact, which they will be compelled to do, what excuse will they furnish to the people for having always and by every means in their power striven to defeat reconstruction? If on the other hand, they accept the present reconstruction, with colored suffrage and all, what particularly better favor will the Democratic party receive at the South than the Republican? If the Democratic party shall, on the other hand, take ground against recognizing the States named as restored to the Union, how will they satisfy the people that they are not arraying themselves in favor of perpetual disunion? Thus far the Democrats have had comparatively plain sailing. They have opposed everything the Republicans have attempted and suggested nothing themselves. They have been the more bold and confident in this course, from the fact that they have felt assured that President Johnson, co-operating with the anti-Union population of the South, would in the end defeat all the reconstruction efforts of Congress. The time has, however, now come for practical action. The Democratic party must take position. It will be rather mortifying, after it has so derided and denounced the negro vote at the South, to be hauled up irresistibly by it to the performance of a plain, patriotic duty. But so it will be.—Detroit Tribune.

The Deacon's Rule.

Thirty-five years ago, or more, a young man then pastor of a rural church in the State of New York, was driving through the parish village in his buggy, having at his side the senior deacon—a very portly, heavy, good old gentleman, known par excellence as "the Squire." He was a very prudent man, rather timid and careful of his life and limbs, all of which were of signal benefit to "the church and the society." Having ascended a slight elevation in the road the deacon observed, about a hundred yards ahead stretched on his broadside, right across the narrow wagon track, basking in a mud puddle, a huge, fat, lazy hog, weighing more than three hundred pounds.

"Look there, elder," said the deacon, nervously, "see that old hog across the road. Turn out."

"I see, sir," said the elder. "I can't turn out."

"But you must, or we shall be turned over."

"Can't do it, sir. I have the right to the road. The hog must give way."

Pony trotted on. They drew nigh the hog.

"I tell you," said the deacon, now nervously excited, "turn out, or we are gone."

"Never fear, sir, the hog must clear out."

By this time they were nearly to a stand-still, the elder presuming that if he could arouse the attention of the sleepy beast he would at once rise and clear the track. But no, his hogship just raised his head, gave a slight glance at the little buggy, and with a short grunt laid it down in the mud. The end was, the elder had to make a short turn out and take a circuit round, while the hog remained "master of the situation." The elder having regained the track and the squire his composure, (the driver rather crestfallen) "Elder" said the deacon, "when I am on the road (and he drove much) I never stop to contend with a hog. I think it is better to turn out."

The deacon ended, and the elder sat for some minutes, silently revolving in his mind the deacon's rule about hogs, and its obvious moral. And the rule, "never to stand in the road to contend with a hog," has been one of the most useful rules of his life.

Remarkable Escape.

The following beats all the stories of remarkable escapes which we remember ever to have seen:

"On the passage of the ship Alexandria from New Orleans to New York, a young lad, about fourteen years of age, from a naturally frolicsome and mischievous disposition, became so very troublesome in his pranks, that he was threatened by the captain, if they were continued, that he would confine him in a water cask. Our youngster took no heed, however, and at his next offense, was put in the cask, which was headed up, leaving a large bung-hole for the admission of air. That night the ship encountered a violent storm, and in a sudden lurch, the cask containing the boy rolled over into the sea. Fortunately, the cask struck bung up, and floated about for thirty hours, when it was thrown upon the beach at St. Blas. Here the boy made desperate efforts to extricate himself from his prison, without success, and in despair, gave up to die. Some cows, however, strolling on the beach, were attracted to the cask, and in walking round it, one of them—it being fly time—switched her tail in the bung-hole, which the lad grasped with a desperate resolution. The cow bellowed, and ran for life, and after running some two hundred yards with the cask, struck it against a log on the beach, and knocked it to smash. The boy was discovered by some fishermen on the Point, and taken to Apalachicola, where a small collection being made for him, he was enabled to proceed north by way of Columbus."

—As appropriate to the prevalent mania for horse-eating, Punch publishes the following song:

"I cannot eat the old horse
I rode long years ago;
I'm sure my teeth would fail me,
And foolish tears might flow.
For by gone hunts come o'er my heart
With cuts from round and side,
I cannot eat the old horse
On which I used to ride.

"I cannot eat the old horse
For visions come again
Of glorious meets departed,
And runs in soaking rain.
But perhaps when raging hunger
Shall set its hand on me,
I then may eat the old horse,
And hope he'll tender be."

—The words of Hosea Bigelow:

"It takes a mind like Daniel's,
As big as all out-doors,
To find out that it looks like rain
After it fairly pours."

—An old bachelor in New York offered a young lady a pony for a kiss. She gave him the kiss; he refused her the pony; she sued him; he pleaded "no consideration;" the court decided that a kiss was a legal consideration, and made him "pony over."

—A little boy in New Bedford Mass., in giving an account to his brother of the Garden of Eden, said: "The Lord made a gardener and put him in the garden to take care of it, and to see that nobody hurt anything or pasted any bills on the trees."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1868.

IMPEACHMENT.

First in order comes the Impeachment trial. We had hoped to have chronicled this week the result of the trial. But owing to several causes, principally the illness of our Senator, Mr. Howard, the decision is postponed until to-day, Saturday. The most intense excitement has prevailed. The chances are strongly in favor of the President's acquital. Several Republican Senators have doubtless sold themselves. The race of Benedict Arnolds is not dead. The universal voice in the Republican party is for the execution of justice. The men who screen the traitor will go down to posterity politically dead and damned. Better for them that they had never been born. Better for the Republican party that it had never nursed such a brood of vipers. They are worse than Andrew Johnson. Hell holds no meaner rascals. Next week we shall publish their names enclosed in black lines. We hope the Republican Press and Republicans everywhere will give the scoundrels no mercy. Next to Judas Iscariot let their names go down to eternal infamy. Betrayers of their country, woe, woe be to them. The excitement in Washington has been intense. We give the gist of the matter in extracts from New York papers:

If Trumbull's speech demoralized the lobby, Fessenden's had the effect of a charge of grape and canister upon the House of Representatives. The news that he was on the floor, and of what he was saying, spread very quickly to the other end of the Capitol. Bingham, Butler and Boutwell were seen running through the hall of the House, telling the Radicals their cause was lost and urging an adjournment, which was carried, amid great confusion and alarm. The members came over almost in a body to the Senate chamber, and several of them immediately sent their cards to Senators, who came out to tell them how matters stood. Butler had heard enough to warrant him in saying that the chances were decidedly against conviction, and he went home soon after with an empty stomach and a heavy heart. Logan paced the corridors for an hour, cursing Trumbull and spitting profusely. It was now given out that unless Wade voted, the President would be acquitted, and the Radicals assured each other that Wade certainly must and would vote.

Just now the result seems to depend upon the two West Virginia Senators, neither of whom have expressed any opinion as yet. Van Winkle is counted upon for the 11th article, though against all the others. The President has more to fear from the 2d and 11th than from any or all of the other articles. Only four Republicans have yet declared against the 2d.

Powerful speeches were made for conviction by Messrs. Merton, Harlan, Conness and Wilson, while Mr. Buckalew spoke against it. Every person was anxious to hear how Wiley, of West Virginia, would go, as he was considered doubtful. His vote given for acquittal would settle the question.

Of those Republicans who had not spoken at all, there were Messrs. Anthony and Frelinghuysen who were not considered at all certain. Unless both these gentlemen voted for conviction, it was certain that the President would escape his just removal. It was whispered around that both Senators were a little shaky since they observed other Republicans going for acquittal, an inquiry only demonstrated the truth of the report. The Senate adjourned at 11 o'clock without anything being known decisively in regard to Mr. Willey's position, or whether Messrs. Anthony and Frelinghuysen would stand up firm for conviction or not.

The friends of impeachment are completely discouraged and many members of Congress give the case up, although your correspondent thinks there is good foundation for belief that the President will be convicted on one article. It is settled that conviction will fail on all the articles except the 11th, and possibly the 2d. Nine or ten Senators have expressed themselves against the first article, which defeats it.

At a recess between the afternoon and evening sessions, two carriage loads of the Conservative Senators drove with the Chief Justice to his residence, where they dined with him. Of the number were Messrs. Fessenden, Trumbull, Grimes, Henderson, Anthony, Sprague and Reverdy Johnson. It was about 8 o'clock when the Senate assembled, and hundreds of anxious people were attracted to the capitol to hear what little news could be obtained from inside the Senate Chamber.

Henderson's sweeping speech fell like a shell among Missouri members, and they, with the visitors from that State, of whom there were a good number present, were taken completely back by it. They were confident to the last moment that he would surely vote for conviction, and made free to express their indignation in no measured terms.

Trumbull's course had a similar effect on the Illinois men, though the Republicans were less surprised at him than at Henderson.

By this time the break in the line had become so marked that Fessenden's speech was looked on as a matter of course.

Long before the adjournment, yea and nay lists were circulated freely outside, and each party holding them had the case made out according to information which had been picked up. At four o'clock these lists seemed to agree in showing that Wade would be obliged to save the case, and a leading competitor for the Chicago nomination for the Vice Presidency, intimated that it would be in his power to save it, but that decency would then compel him to resign and allow Colfax to become President.

The stories that gained circulation of bargains that defeat Wade, and of purchases of Senators to secure acquittal, were very numerous and heard on all sides. These, coupled with the indignation which attended their recital, formed the staple of excited conversation in many groups.

The Democrats are generally in good spirits, and the extreme impeachment men are quite despondent, while cooler and more impartial observers hold that there is still some chance for conviction.

The President's friends profess absolute certainty of the failure of impeachment. A member of Mr. Johnson's Cabinet told me to-night that he knew there were more than votes enough to secure acquital, and that on some of the articles there would be an absolute majority against them. This last is improbable, but the Cabinet Minister gave the names of the less noted Senators who would make up the seven to defeat impeachment, and said he was sure of their votes. Evarts has also said he had positive knowledge of votes enough to acquit his client. On the whole, however, the prospect, though gloomy, is not absolutely hopeless. There are strong expectations that Henderson and Sherman, and perhaps also Trumbull, may vote for conviction on the eleventh article. In any event, so far as Senators have declared themselves, the President yet lacks two votes. The feeling of the impeachers against Fessenden and his party is very bitter, and there is much talk of their movement as looking to the organization of a third party for the Presidential contest.

Proceedings of Tuesday.

Special dispatches to Cincinnati Gazette.

The fact has come to light that Henderson, Trumbull, Grimes and Fessenden had fully decided upon their course last Friday, and that those in the proper ring were made fully aware of the situation. This caused the hitherto unexplained confidence in the White House that day. Sherman will vote for the second, third, eighth and eleventh articles. Henderson's friends declare he will vote for the eleventh. Wade says positively he will vote on all articles from first to last, as he deems it his duty to do, and that when the case is decided, it will be quite time enough to consider other questions which concern him personally. Before the conclusion to adjourn, an attempt was made to arrange a pair between Howard and Fessenden, but the latter refused. Henderson's agreement with his delegation is having great effect in changing the whole aspect of affairs. Maine and Illinois delegations are trying to move Trumbull.

Responses from the country began to come to Senators and Representatives some time before noon, and before the adjournment were being received in an uninterrupted stream. These being passed around, soon set the minds of all at rest concerning the feelings of the country. Taking the day through, telegraph men say there has been no great occasion in a long time when the country was so prompt to respond, and where the sentiments expressed were as strong, and so nearly of the same character.

The scene on the floor of the Senate was full of life, and one of great interest. There was most active canvassing on all sides, and it soon became apparent that the chances for conviction were deemed good by a large part of the Senators. The question of voting, as had been agreed on, for an adjournment, on account of the severe sickness of Mr. Howard, was considered for some time by the friends of conviction. He had expressed a willingness to come, even at the risk of his life, if the vote was determined upon, though his physicians asserted that it would be at the peril of his life, and absolutely refused to be a party to allowing him to come.

The whole Tennessee delegation is waiting on Fowler to-night, to present an opinion to him that he should refrain from voting entirely unless he can represent what he well knows to be the sentiment of the loyal people of his State. The Maine delegation have had considerable talk among themselves regarding the propriety of calling on Fessenden and trying to change his determination, but it was thought to be useless. The Illinois Republican delegation met this afternoon and talked over matters. They regret Judge Trumbull's course, but conclude that there is no occasion for them to take action thereupon. They express themselves as confident that the final vote of the Senate will be for conviction.

It is thought to-night that the first, fourth, fifth, sixth, ninth and tenth articles will fail. These include the charge of removing Stanton, the conspiracy charges, Emery article, and swinging around the circle article. It is also believed that the second and eleventh and probably the third, will receive 36 to 38 votes.

Southern Union men, of whom there are a large number in the city, have been most cast down of any class here. They have taken measures to-day to organize for the purpose of placing the situation of the Union men of the South as they deemed it would be, should the President be acquited, before Senators. These men all agree that there would be no safety whatever for Southern delegates to Chicago, and members elect to Congress returning to their homes. All letters and dispatches received from the South from Union men, since the trial began, have exhibited great anxiety lest the Senate should fail to convict.

The speech of Senator Morton in the Senate last night produced a marked effect. His earnestness fixed the attention of all the Senators upon him. One of the strongest points he made was to read the resolution by which the Senate reinstated Stanton, and then to call over slowly the names of those who voted for it. From this he reasoned that all whose names he had read had committed themselves to sustain the Tenure-of-Office law, and that the Senatorial oath under which they then acted was as binding as their judicial oath.

LATEST NEWS.

Special dispatch to Advertiser & Tribune.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—While Senator Howard is no worse to-day, it cannot be said that he is any better, but there is still some hope that he may be able to be in his place in the Senate on Saturday long enough to vote on the impeachment question.

Senator Grimes, of Iowa, has had a slight paralytic attack, and is very much weakened by it. It is said he will not be able to leave his residence for a fortnight.

It is proposed by some to pair Wade and Howard against Grimes. Under such an arrangement, 34 votes would be sufficient to convict.

Senator Conkling, of New York, is also still ill.

The friends of impeachment are not very hopeful to-night. Henderson and Ross cannot be reckoned as at all certain for the eleventh article even, and are probably sure to go against the rest. The President's friends profess to be certain of acquital, but they are nevertheless uneasy which demonstrates that they are not quite sure of one or two of those so confidently reckoned on.

The fact is that both sides are anxious and doubtful about the final result, with the chances generally admitted to be in favor of acquital.

The overwhelming sentiment of the country is in favor of conviction, expressed by letter, telegraphic dispatches, coming down like a thick shower upon the Senators. But we apprehend gold, sordid dust, will conquer and the great political criminal of this generation go scott free by the aid of seven bigger villians.

The House has voted to admit North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Louisiana—yeas, 108; nays, 38.

RECONSTRUCTION

Is progressing. Florida has voted for the revised constitution, and elected Republican State officers and members of Congress. The House has voted by a large majority to admit Arkansas. The speaker has presented a letter from Gen. Grant, giving the votes on the constitutions in the Southern States, as follows:

North Carolina—For, 92,590; against, 71,820.

South Carolina—For, 70,758; against, 27,288.

Georgia—For, 89,007; against, 71,309.

Louisiana—For, 66,152; against, 48,739.

Alabama—For, 69,807; against, 1,005.

Referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

All these States will be restored to their normal position in the Union before the Chicago National Convention. It is a striking comment on partisanship that the Democratic members of Congress all voted against the admission of Arkansas and will reject all the other States, demonstrating that their cry for a restored Union was hypocritical.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

This body is in session at Chicago. We have the Methodist before us, a very able paper published in New York city. It gives the statistics of the Methodist Episcopal Church as follows: 68 annual conferences, 1,146,681. This is the largest membership ever reported by any Protestant organization. It slightly out-numbers the Baptists. The Baptist Almanac for 1868 reports 1,094, 806 members. The great topic for discussion at Chicago is lay delegation. The movement is becoming popular and will in all probability be carried. The admission of southern delegates is receiving considerable discussion. A bishop is to be elected. President Haven of the University stands at the head of the list of candidates.

THE METHODIST.

We have before us a specimen copy, May 2d. It is an earnest advocate of lay delegation in the Church. The number on our table contains a history of this movement from 1828 to 1868, showing a remarkable progress of public sentiment in the Church in favor of reform. Believing in Democracy in Church as well as State, we rejoice at this cheerful progression in the right direction. The Methodist is ably edited, and really, so far as influence, is the leading organ in the denomination. Success to it.

LORD BROUGHAM

One of the greatest of English statesmen, is dead. He lived to be over ninety years old. Of late years little has been said of him, but in our boyhood days he stood prominent in English affairs. He was the coadjutors of Clarkston and Wilberforce in doing away with slavery in the West Indies.

Steam Press.

Our Taylor Cylinder Press is at hand and being set up. We believe that we are in a position to obviate the necessity of taking a dollar's worth of work out of Ypsilanti. We call the especial attention of our Schools to our facilities. Our improved Gordon can't be beat for card and neat circular work, school exhibition programmes, etc. This Press is far ahead of our old one, works smoothly, almost noiselessly. So far as we can judge our Taylor Press is a first class one, as promised us. It is 31 by 46 inside of bearers and will print an eight column sheet. We trust that our patronage will soon demand such a paper. We can print posters one third larger than heretofore; and we have a capital stock of wood type. We shall keep on improving in type and fixtures as our business and the good name of our city shall seem to warrant.

Mrs. Lyman

Closed her lectures in our city last Thursday. She has done a great deal of good here. Our women are sadly in need of "light." The long dresses sweeping our dirty sidewalks are a shame to a heathen civilization and would degrade a squaw. Enough cloth is wasted annually to furnish all our towns with metropolitan churches. Look at our school girls on the platform reading their essays. Their dress is ridiculous and ludicrous in the extreme. We trust Mrs. Lyman will visit our city again. It needs line upon line, precept upon precept. Mrs Lyman gives instruction that needs to be impressed with a pen of iron upon the minds, consciences and hearts of our women.

Outs and Ins.

We intended last week to allude to our retiring city officers and also of the present officials. Ex-Mayor Edwards always honors the position. He has been untiring in his efforts to serve the city. So also the ex-Marshal, Mr. Tenny, has been diligent in season and out of season, earnest and faithful, giving general satisfaction.

The new Mayor and Marshal cannot hope to do better than emulate the example of their predecessors. Both have occupied the positions before. Mayor Davis has never failed to give entire satisfaction to his fellow citizens. The Marshal, Mr. Cleaveland, has secured the reputation of an energetic, driving, thorough going man, and will no doubt maintain it.

Mr. C. N. Ganson, Treasurer, has experience and is in position to do full justice to his official trust.

Mr. Noble made a good Clerk. It seems a pity to change these officers so often, but we have no doubt Mr. Babbitt will do well. System and good penmanship are the main requirements.

If you want Cards our Gordon will do them up in good style.

Some thirty dispatches were sent from Chicago, Tuesday, to Senator Trumbull, and to Illinois members about him. John Wentworth telegraphed him that he had better drink some of Dick Yates' whisky to strengthen his nerves. Col. Hough telegraphed him that Chicago preferred Dick Yates drunk to Judge Trumbull sober. Other telegrams, of earnest protest, have gone to him.

The improvement in Senator Howard's health will occasion general pleasure in this State. In his long and useful public life, he has never had an opportunity to render to his constituents than now.

The New York Tribune's leading editorial in its edition of Tuesday was remarkable brief. It was as follows:

"Grimes is dead!"

—COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE will immediately relieve and permanently cure the most aggravated case of Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Sour Stomach, Constipation, and all diseases of the stomach and bowels. Physicians, clergymen, and all who use it, join in unbounded praise of its great virtues. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Price $1. 217–1y

They made grave too cold and damp
For a heart so honest and true.

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters, if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their beginning in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption, Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms, and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system, they enliven the mind. 219-2w

THE CURATIVE BALSAM is Warranted, if used according to Directions, to cure the worst cases, Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

Madame Zadoc Porter's Balsam is a purely Vegetable Expectorant, prepared with great care and scientific skill, from a combination of the best remedies the vegetable kingdom affords.

Its remedial quantities are based on its power to assist the healthy and vigorous circulation of the Blood through the Lungs.

It enlivens the muscles and assists the skin to perform the duties of regulating the heat of the system, and in gently throwing off the waste substance from the surface of the body.

It loosens the phlegm, induces free spitting, and will be found VERY AGREEABLE TO THE TASTE. It is not a violent remedy, but emollient, warming, searching and effective; and can be taken by the oldest person or youngest child.

If you have a Cold, if ever so slight, do not fail to give the Balsam a trial, as the very low price at which it is sold brings it within the reach of every one, that they may always keep it convenient for use. The timely use of a 25 cent bottle will often prove it to be worth a hundred times its cost.

The 75 cent bottle is more profitable to the consumer, as it contains four times the quantity contained in the small bottle.

Culverwell, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," etc.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, or tainted Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples or sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities; it expels disease and restores health and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottle, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative ingredient whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the class of diseases it is intended to cure. We can assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other medicine for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists and dealers in medicine everywhere. Agents wanted.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

WHITE PINE COMPOUND.

THE WHITE PINE COMPOUND CURES

Sore Throat, Colds, Coughs, Diphtheria, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, and Pulmonary Affections generally. It is a remarkable Remedy for Kidney Complaints, Diabetes, Difficulty of voiding Urine, Bleeding from the Kidneys, Bladder, and Gravel.

"It was early in the spring of 1855 that this Compound was originated. A member of my family was afflicted with an irritation of the throat, attended with a disagreeable cough. I had for some months previous thought that a preparation, having for its basis the inside bark of white pine, might be so compounded as to be very useful in the case of the throat and lungs. To test the value of it in the case alluded to, I compounded a small quantity of the medicine that I had been planning, and gave it in teaspoonful doses. The result was exceedingly gratifying. Within two days the irritation of the throat was removed, the cough subsided, and a speedy cure was effected. Soon after this I sent some to a lady in Londonderry, N. H., who had been suffering for some weeks from a bad cough, occasioned by a sudden cold, and had raised mucus streaked with blood. She soon found relief, and sent for more. She took about ten ounces of it, and got well. J. B. Clark, Esq., editor of the Manchester Daily Mirror, made a trial of the same preparation in the case of a severe cold, and was cured immediately. He was so highly pleased with the results, and so confident of success attending its sales if placed before the public, that he finally persuaded me to give it a name and send it abroad to benefit the suffering."

Testimonials.

A very large number of important testimonials have already been received from Physicians, Clergymen, Apothecaries, and, indeed, from all classes in society, speaking in the most flattering terms of the White Pine Compound.

Dr. NICHOLS, of Northfield, Vt., says:

"I find the White Pine Compound to be very efficacious not only in coughs and other pulmonic affections but also in affections of the kidneys, debility of the stomach, and other kindred organs."

Rev. J. K. CHASE, of Rumney, N. H., writes:

"I have for years regarded your White Pine Compound as an invaluable remedy. I can truly say that I regard it as even more efficacious and valuable than ever. I have just taken the Compound for a cold, and it works charmingly."

From JAMES J. HOYT.

BRADFORD, N. H., September, 1866.

DR. POLAND: In the Fall of 1857 I took a very violent cold, which caught on a very severe cough, pain in the side and lungs, and raising blood. I was also very badly afflicted with that troublesome disease—the Kidney Complaint. For the three years past I have been very much troubled with my throat and lungs, choking up and raising an immense sight, with a bad cough after raising blood. I felt that my time here must be short unless I soon got relief. This Spring, I was induced to try your White Pine Compound, though my faith in it was small. But to my astonishment, before I had taken two bottles my cough was better, the kidney trouble also, and I could rest nights without choking up and raising so much. I have taken nearly three bottles, and am feeling like a well man.

I would add that my father's family is inclined to consumption, my father, mother, and two sisters having died of it.

The White Pine Compound, advertised at length in our columns, is not only as to its name inviting, but is a highly approved medicine. Dr. J. W. Poland, the inventor, has the confidence of the many who know him, a confidence which he enjoyed while laboring usefully many years as a Baptist minister. His experience as a sufferer led him to make experiments which issued in his medical discovery.—Boston Watchman and Reflector.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE.—Dr. Poland's White Pine Compound, advertised in our columns, is a successful attempt to combine and apply the medicinal virtues of the White Pine bark. It has been thoroughly tested by people in this city and vicinity, and the proprietor has testimonials to its value from persons well known to our citizens. We recommend its trial in all those cases of disease to which it is adapted. It is for sale by all our druggists.—New York Independent.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Has stood the test of seven years trial by the public; and no preparation for the hair yet discovered will produce the same beneficial results. It is a new scientific discovery, combining the most powerful and restorative agents in the VEGETABLE KINGDOM. It restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR. It makes the scalp white and clean; cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair; and will make it grow upon bald heads, except in very aged persons, as it furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft, and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a HAIR DRESSING. It is the cheapest preparation ever offered to the public, as one bottle will accomplish more and last longer than three bottles of any other preparation.

It is recommended and used by the First Medical Authority.

The wonderful results produced by our Sicilian Hair Renewer have induced many to manufacture preparations for the Hair, under various names; and in order to induce the trade and the public to purchase their compounds, they have resorted to falsehoods, by claiming they were former partners, or had some connection with our Mr. Hall, and their preparation was similar to ours. Do not be deceived by them! Purchase the original: it has never been equalled. Our Treatise on the Hair, with certificates, sent free by mail. See that each bottle has our private Revenue Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.

The Earthquake of the Century.

The revelation of Nature's wonder-working in the Sandwich Islands, which we publish this morning, is well worth perusing. Emerson has described the ordinary changes of the seasons, of seed-time, harvest, bud, flower and fruit, as "Nature's homely miracle." But here we see her in her gorgeous, pyrotechic, terrific mood. It is her grand Fourth of July of the century, with the blaze, the magnificence, and, alas! the fatality of that occasion.

A hundred earthquake shocks in one day, followed by two thousand in the two succeeding weeks, or six every hour, and one every ten minutes suggests a prolonged apprehension and excitement that cannot be comtemplated without a shudder. The earth yawned, and heaved up the ocean until it covered the tops of the tallest palm-trees, sweeping houses, churches, horses, cattle, and human beings to a common destruction. A stream of burning lava five or six miles wide rushed down the sides of the mountain at the rate of ten miles an hour—swifter than the current of Niagara. The mighty forces under that crust of earth struggled to the surface and to the light. They threw up an island in the sea, flinging contemptuous mud at the puny steamer—the work of men's hands—passing by. They built a causeway of red-hot lava from the main shore to the new creation in the sea. They poured a stream of earth down the mountain and across the plain with a speed of a mile a minute—twice as fast as that of our express trains. They tore off the side and summit of a hill a quarter of a mile high and flung it over tree tops into a valley below. They opened fathomless fissures in the mountain sides. They forced streams of subterranean lava from the fearful crucible beneath, which would burst through the surface, here and there, in fiery fountains and deathful bubbles. They threw a thousand feet into the air, stones and earth, illuminating the night for fifty miles around, scorching and devastating the land three hundred miles in circumference about this center of death and grandeur.

The imagination of two modern novelists has endeavored to surround an ocean island with the fascinations of novelty and danger; but how far beyond their limited conceptions extends "foul play" of this titanic struggle which prostrates multitudes before it, slays a hecatomb of victims, and plays with rocks and mountains as if they were the toys of its capricious moods.—Detroit Post.

Southern Elections.

The results of the Southern elections are in part due to the impeachment of the President. That strong proceeding, let the event of it be what it may, had the effect of enlightening the Southern mind. It showed that there was a way to reach the great offender, and that there were men bold enough to have resort to it. It showed that, instead of being able to uphold disturbers of peace at the South, President Johnson might find it exceedingly difficult, not to say impossible, to maintain his own position. The effect was that Southern eyes were opened to certain consequences that are apt to follow from relying on the weak and the helpless—on men who require aid, and who therefore cannot give it. This sobered the Southerners to some extent, and latterly they have behaved with considerable prudence. But it would not be wise to assume that their conversion is complete. We must rely on ourselves to bring about a thorough cure in their case. Men who would succeed must do so through their own exertions. All depends on the result of that presidential election which will take place six months hence. We must elect Gen. Grant to our chief magistracy—and we must elect him by a vast majority, so that he may speak potentially, as the head of a mighty host of voters. As he had powerful armies with which to conquer those of the rebels, so should he have a great popular support to enable him to conquer the last hope of those who are rebels at heart, and who are seeking after a revival of "the lost cause." Napoleon said he marched with great masses of men, and so should Gen. Grant march into the presidency. Once he is there, as the choice of millions, the rebellion will be entirely at an end, and the Union's restoration fairly effected. We shall hear no more of a rehearsal of the military judgment by civil action. The two things will be in accord. Ballot and bayonet will have combined their strength, and the most fanatical member of the conquered chivalry will admit that the wager of battle had been against his cause, and that there is nothing left but submission. Then will there be peace, or only so much of contention and struggle as may be necessary to save men from perishing from the rust of inactivity, which is more fatal to the race than edge of the sword.—Watchman & Reflector.

A Girl's First Offer.

There are two deplorable extremes, into one of which a young girl usually falls on receiving her "first offer."

The worst and most frequent of these is that of fancying herself in love, when, in reality, she does not care a fig for her lover. The other consists in a coquettish pride which leads her, against the dictates of her own judgment, and the inclinations of her heart, to reject a suitor, however worthy.

Now, when a man offers a woman his hand, with all the accompaniments of his heart, and name and fortune—whether these be exalted or lowly—he pays her the highest compliment in his power. Undeniably she has a right to feel complimented, and she must be untrue to her womanhood does she not in some measure feel so, even though her suitor be beneath her regard; and the compliment will be valued very much in proportion to her estimation of the man.

But take a young girl, whose imagination is colored with the hues of a summer's sunrising; whose dovelike soul is waiting on quivering wing for love's first message; whose gentle heart pulsates in anticipation of love's ecstacy. When, in her Maymorn, one comes offering her the sweetest and brightest of life's fragance and beauty—does she pause to see if there be any dust on his garments, any stain on his hands, any film on his eyes, any baseness in his heart?

No!—intoxicated with the perfume, and bewildered with the beauty, he stands in the radiance of her rising sun, and sees the lover beneath its golden light.

Many a woman has blighted her own life, and that of the one she loved, by indulging a passion for coquetry. Having charms of which she is fully conscious; endowed, perhaps, with the advantages of wealth, position and accomplishments, she proudly measures her power, and says:

"I am equal to great conquests; and shall I, thus early, submit to be conquered? I have cords with which to lead many captives; and shall I yield my hands to be manacled? I have power to bring the proud head low—to melt the heart of stone—to wring the nerve of steel; and shall I put my head on the block—my own heart in the crucible—my own nerves in the vice? No! when I have had a surfeit of these delights—then——"

But the time referred to in the long futurity of the little word "then" seldom comes to the coquette. It will always be "then." The "accepted time" is never near when once we have let the opportunity pass. Why will not women be warned?

Assuredly, to be loved implies some degree of loveliness, and she may be pardoned for feeling gratified with this highest of all compliments—this subtlest of all flattery. But why should she unhesitatingly throw herself into arms that may be extended only to ensnare her? On the other hand, why does she turn proudly from the embrace of one who may be fitted to meet every want of her womanhood?

Young girl, answer these questions to your own heart, and when you receive your "first offer" be not so flattered or self-deceived as either to accept or reject without careful deliberation.

Don't imagine that this is the last "chance" you will ever have; neither for the sake of flirting throw it away.

NEWSPAPER POWER.—"Thirty years ago," says Wilkes' Spirit, "the orators ruled America; to-day it is ruled by the editors." It adds: "There is a class of men among bankers and merchants and lawyers, who affect a condescension toward the journalist which is immensely amusing. The writer for the newspapers appears to their blinking eyes a kind of literary adventurer, who is to be tolerated for his genius, but not to be trusted in business. They are ignorant that it sells their goods, furnishes all their facts, and presents them gratuitously with their opinions. They do not know that the newspapers of America will nominate the candidate for the Presidency, determine the election, dictate the legislation of Congress. Newspapers lead them by the nose wherever they go, but they do not feel the pressure, which is the particular reason why we give this especial tweak."

—Dr. Spring's autobiography gives an account of the first collection for foreign missions taken up in the United States. It was in the church at Newburyport, Mass., of which his father was pastor, and the congregation was largely composed of sea-captains and sailors. Dr. Spring says:

"At the close of the service, one of the old rich sea captains remarked as he came out from the church—'The doctor has given us a grand sermon, and he has preached all the jack-knives out of the sailor's pockets.' On returning to my father's house, and laying out the collection on the parlor table, there was gold and silver and copper, and not a few jack-knives. The sailors had little else to give."

—A retired editor says his connection with the Press has thawed and resolved itself into adieu.

—The editor of the La Grange, Ind., Standard has a pass over a railroad which, much to his sorrow, is not built yet.

—The Rocky Mountain Herald advertises for single women. A thousand girls, it says, could get husbands and homes in Colorado, before the spring.

—Any autumn apple may be kept until Spring if put in a temperature a little above freezing, and covered completely with straw, wool, or woolens, all non-conductors.

—A lady of Boston lately advertised for a partner, and as she added no capital required, applicants were plenty. One and all, when they found that it was a matrimonial partnership that was offered them, backed down.

—The income of the Missionary Societies of America, England, France, Germany, &c., for 1866, was $4,425,000; or, less than five miles to each of the 965,000,000 souls on earth who are accounted heathen, being either Jews, Mohammedans or Pagans.

—The new Baptist church of Bay City promises to be the finest edifice in the Saginaw Valley. The design for the building has been on exhibition for a few days, the admired of admirers. The church is to be of the decorated gothic style of architecture, built of brick and slate roof, and will cost, when completed, about $45,000.

—One report from Washington states that Andy will run for Governor of Tennessee, when he gets home. We are sure nothing would please Governor Brownlow and the Radical party of the State better. The freedmen of Tennessee would be delighted to encounter their "Moses" at the ballot-box.
